

Sharon Sun holds a senior scientist position at adMare Bioinnovation, specializing in bioanalytical research and pharmaceutical development. She earned her PhD from the University of British Columbia and completed post-doctoral training at the Center for Drug Research and Development. Prior to joining adMare Bioinnovation in 2014, Sharon served as a director at the SIF research facility at UBC, and she continues in her current role.